

Low: 15; High: 44

The Daily News

More Than A Newspaper — A Community Institution

50 Cents

Vol. 252, No. 57

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 2006

Mon Yough seniors focus of long-range medical study

By PATRICK CLOONAN
Daily News Staff Writer
pcloonan@dailynewsemail.com

A region with some of the oldest demographics in the country will be the focus of a long-range medical study by University of Pittsburgh researchers.

Pitt's Mon Yough Healthy Aging Team researchers said their upcoming five-year study is aimed at improving understanding of healthy aging, particularly of the mind, by identifying factors which cause some elderly to remain healthy while others develop health problems.

Dr. Mary Ganguli, professor of geriatric psychiatry at Pitt, is principal MYHAT investigator.

"She's been studying Alzheimer's disease for many, many years," Kathryn McMichael, R.N., said. "She did a study prior to this for five years on the study in the Mon

— Photo by Cindy Shegan Keeley/Daily News

Denny's server Bonnie Monstrola shares her outgoing personality with regular customers at the Irwin restaurant, from left, Chuck Maxwell, Darlene Stafford and George Stafford of Hermitte.

Jeannette woman honored for her charitable efforts

By JENNIFER R. VERTULLO
Daily News Staff Writer

Denny's employees are caring the Marriott at Renaissance Park in Spartanburg, S.C.